ARMLESS MAN WEDS PASTOR'S DAUGHTER

Pretty Romance Comes From Philadelphia With Marriage of John Huber and Caroline Wilson.

HILADELPHIA, April 2.-Fate sent John Huber into the world under a handicap. Huber's mother never felt the pressure of dimpled baby arms about her neck. The haby never knew what it meant to nestle up against her throat like the other children and drift off into dreamland from that haven.

Then one day, when the armless child was about 8 years old, a circus came to Dayton, O., where the Hubers dwelt. On a broad seat in the big arena the boy peeped into Fairyland and sighed as he saw the wonderful things the lucky world that possessed hands could do with them.

"The Armless Wonder, ladies and gentlemen," announced the ringmaster. Little boy Huber watched the Armless Wonder eagerly. He was in the same plight as himself, but he didn't seem to mind it. He shot rifles, painted pictures, wrote. And all this with his feet. "If he can do all that, I ought to be able to," sollloquized the boy as he trudged homeward. And just about this time in Phila-delphia a little girl entered the world. She was duly christened Caroline Wil-son by her father, Albert Wilson, a Methodist evangelist.

Cupid, looking over the general situ-ation, smiled and marked down under their names, "for future reference." Years passed and Huber became a celebrity. Like the man he had seen in the dim boyhood days, he could shoot, paint, draw, handle a hammer and nails—everything the normal man does with his hands he could do with his toes. But he had not yet met the crucial test of whether he was equal in all things to his brothers.

Could he court a girl? He wondered. Cupid Takes a Foot.

About this time Cupid began to look through his betting book and search around for Fate. Huber was self-sup-

But Huber had taken up the gage and he played his-foot-alone. His pictures found a ready sale. He developed a pretty wit and audiences listened to him with interest. He made a tour of the world. Through China, Japan, Alaska he wandered. He paid his way by making and selling pictures to the Europeans at foreign ports.

During this trip he changed his method. The paint solled his feet, and, obviously, it was difficult for him to acknowledge introductions in such plight. So he learned to paint and to write with his mouth-brush or pen clenched firmly between his teeth.

After five years he returned to America. Coming to Philadelphia he appeared at one of the playhouses.

Enter then the girl. Caroline Wilson was a much-courted young lady. Tall, slender, with big wistful gray eyes and a crown of blackish hair many heavy crown of blackish hair, many beaux dangled at her skirts.

Miss Wilson's father was preaching that night in her uncle's church in Brooklyn. Her mother was away, A girl chum was visiting her. We'll go to the theater, just for n." said the chum. The minister's daughter acquiesced fearfully, for she

The Maid and the Man.

"He's beckoning to you," said the chum to the minister's daughter. "Nonsense," said the girl, and fled to the door, Not so the chum. Mischeviously she approached Huber.

"Til tell you who she is," she said.
And she did. /Miss Wilson the next day smiled and blushed over a letter written in curious square characters and which was Something in the letter appealed to the girl. There was a courtesy, a help-less touch that dwarfed the unconventionality of its sending. But she didn't answer it. The next day brought two letters. These, after much hesitation, the answered. Then came three letters, and the hombardment of the girl's heart began in earnest.

The billet doux had progressed from "Dear triend" to "Dearest little wom-an," but during all this time she had not again seen Huber. Her letters, she confesses, passed through the same Cupid and Fate gripped their seats and wuited tensely.

And the Girl Said Yes.

The minister's daughter searched through her heart and finally answered that she would. For a woman's reason, perhaps, she stipulated that they must first be formally introduced. Mutual friends were discovered in Orange, N. I., and there the girl and her mother journeyed. There, too, went Huber. For two days the armiess Othello pressed his suit. Perhaps before this the pity that dwells in woman's heart and is akin to love had swayed the minister's daughter. But now she felt that love and pity had become one. Huber sued for an early marriage, and the girl consented. Two days seemed long enough for the man, and the min-leter's daughter did not demur. They planned to be wedded by her father at her uncle's church. Huber was called back to Philadelphia suddenly, however, and the party stopped off at Trenton, went before the Rev. Dr. Henderson and were made man and wife. This was only two weeks The courtship had taken less than six weeks. Cupid laughed, clapped dis-consolate Fate upon the shoulder, made another entry in his book of victories and took flight. "But how did you court your wife without using your arms?" Huber was

STRANGE DEATH OF MASSACHUSETTS WOMAN

After Receiving Bogus Notice of Accident to a Brother, Her Body Is Found Hacked to Pieces.

WESTON, Mass., April 2 .- The auhorities of Middlesex county are investigating the death of Miss Mabel Page aged 40, whose body was found by her father, Edward Page, a retired iron-master, in her chamber at home here Thursday. There were evidences of suicide at first glance, but an inspec-tion by a medical examiner revealed half a dozen knife wounds, any of which might have caused death.

The woman apparently had been in formed that her brother, who worked in Boston, had been injured in an acci-dent and taken to a hospital. She was preparing to leave at once for Boston when she met her death. A note writ-en by her explaining that she was goig to her brother's aid was found on a able. The brother, however, was

Miss Page was alone at her home for several hours Thursday. During that lime her death occurred. Thus far absolutely no trace of the murderer has been found and it is now believed the woman was the victim of a maniac who managed to enter the bouse unde-tected. He escaped in the same manner

Special to The Tribune. DULUTH, Minn., April 2 -- Mrs. Eelma Halonen of Tower, aged 21, was committed to the insane hospital tong her four-day-old baby in her arms, drunken man, an acquaintance of her surband, entered the house and wildly eclared he was going to burn the buildng and cut Mrs. Halonen and her baby pieces. The woman went mad from that moment.

Though every effort has since been made to restore her mental poise, she ives in constant fear of being killed or nurned, and the schemes she resorts to o protect her baby from imaginary perils are most affecting. She still ives in the shadow of that great seem-ng danger when her reason fied. When the man made the threat Mrs. Halonen sat up and screamed, and her fright sobered the drunken man, who sneaked off. Mr. Halonen wept bitterly today when he and his wife were parted here.

REV. A. McLEOD, D. D., OF THE DETROIT PRESBYTERY.

I am now in my 73rd year and have served God fearlessly and to the best of my ability in my chosen calling. For more than forty years I have been afflicted with dyspepsia and nervous prostration. At times I would get so run down constitutionally through overwork as to be disqualified entirely from discharging my ministerial duties. The older I grew the more the disease seemed to prey upon me. The most noted physicians failed to prescribe any medicines that benefited me. I could neither eat nor sleep, and for more than two years I had to take sleeping powders every night.

"My nervous prostration became well nigh unbearable. But for the grace of Godhelping me, I would not be in the land of the living. Language falls to express the agony of my mind.

"Something over a month ago I began taking your preparation, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. In the brief period of two days I found that if began to help me. It gave me strength, helped my digestion, settled my nerves and I have gained ten pounds since taking it. I thank God there is such a medicine to be had, and recommend all people with weak, broken-down constitutions and nervous people expecially to use it. I feel that it will help them. I will be glad to answer any communications in regard to the healing virtue of your preparation. I am a temperance man; and I do not think my position in this matter will be misunderstood." Yours very truly, (REV.) A. McLEOD, D. D. Greenleaf, Mich., Jan. 22, 1994.

Rev. Dr. McLeod's indersement is but the outpouring of a grateful soul. The letter of a man who has been relieved of great suffering and who openly acknowledges the great medicinal value of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Ministers of the group of medicine, nurses and people in every well to incommending this wonderful medicine—the only perfect tonic-stimulant, the one true, needleinal whiskey. # Men Try My Cure Free I ask not one penny in advance or on me when cured. I know the terrible mental torture of the nervous debility sufferer, but I also know his gratefulness when restored, and that is the basis for my free treatment until cured. Can any such sufferer come to me and be made a man among men, and then refuse to pay a few dollars for aiding him to become so? I say no, and my wonderful success backs up my judgment. I wish that every sufferer knew that the effect of Electricity upon the weak, debilitated man is the same as rain upon the parched field in summer. He may be debilitated from varicocele, losses, impotency; may have confusion of ideas; fear to act and decide; gloomy forebodings, timid and fretful; avoid friends and company; without confidence in himself to face the alightest responsibility, and let him properly apply Electricity for but a few hours and all these symptoms vanish—giving way to glowing, seething vigor through every weak part. A few weeks to a couple of months' use of this treatment banish them forever, and make strong, confident, manly men out of the puniest weaklings. For nearly 40 years I have treated and restored weak men through my world-famed invention, and am still doing so with greater success than ever. In fact, I do not expect to fail in any case of this kind, and therefore, as most men are more or less skeptical, I will continue to give my Herculex and as said, not one cent is to be paid me in advance or on deposit. Call or write and get the belt and use, say for 60 days, and if cured pay me price of belt only—many cases low as $4—if not cured, return the belt and the deal is ended. But I know what the belt will do, and will take the risk of my pay when you are cured. I also give my belts on same terms in Rheumatism, Lame Back, Stomach, Ridney and Liver Complaints, etc. Think of a remedy that has stood every possible test for nearly 40 years—the only one ever successfully given to sufferers on its own merits!

As the originator and founder of the electric belt system of treatment my 40 years' success is the envy of many, and my belts of course are imitated. (What good thing is not?) I am therefore compelled to caution you to not be deceived, as the genuine Herculex Dr. Sanden Electric Belt cannot be had anywhere on the coast except at office, as below. But my great knowledge to advise and direct my patients is mine alone, and cannot be imitated, and free to all who use my belt until cure is complete. Call or send today for my belt. Or if you want to look into the matter further, I have the two best little books ever written upon Electricity and its medical uses, and send them free, sealed, upon request. DR. T. N. SANDEN, 997 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal. LARGEST ELECTRIC BELT ESTABLISHMENT IN THE WORLD.
